

DARCY BENSON

West Coast Amusements has a colourful and brilliant history that started in 1942 in Western Canada headed up by the legendary carnival owner, Bingo Hauser.

Fast forward 77 years later and today you find the Largest Canadian Midway Operator in Western Canada being owned and operated by the 38-year-old Darcy Benson.

Darcy heads up a massive arsenal of Rides, Games, Food and highly-trained staff that now attends XX great Western Canadian Fairs and Festivals that continues this great West Coast Amusement tradition.

Darcy has 18 years of outdoor amusement industry experience, and prides himself on creating and garnering lifelong relationships with Fairs and Festivals, Industry Associates, and creating an exceptional entertainment experience. A solid safety environment is paramount to the success of West Coast Amusements and to Darcy's success. He holds a level 2 NAARSO accreditation and embraces safety programs and training for all employees.

At any West Coast Amusement stop you can find Darcy attending to daily tasks of running a first-class operation. He is a hands on manager that lays out lots, deals directly with the employees, fixes trucks, plans show moves, oversees set up and teardowns, handles marketing and promotions, and is a liaison with Fair management to oversee a fantastic presentation.

Darcy hails from Chilliwack, BC and is married to Jaclyn. They have three busy children: Dylan 15, Zachary 13 and Levi 11. Darcy and his family actively participate in hockey functions across Western Canada in their off season.

Darcy's outgoing nature and entrepreneurial outlook are key assets to his widely successful business and family pursuits.
